Meredith in top 13 for Central Florida job

BY JOHN MARTIN

A former member of Western's Board of Regents said yesterday that President Thomas Meredith may be exploring another job option partly because the board is creating a difficult atmosphere for Meredith to work under.

Meredith is one of 13 candidates still in the running for the presidency at the University of Central Florida. He will interview for the position in Orlando Friday.

Thomas Meredith

Wendell Strode, a Western regent from 1988-1991, said Meredith might be looking elsewhere because the board is too interested in "penny-ante" issues. He said the board focuses too much on detail and not enough on the "big picture."

"I can see where our board has created an environment of frustration," he said. "An environment that does not facilitate a visionary leader like Dr. Meredith to move the university forward and take advantage of opportunities that are there."

Strode said the alleged problems Meredith has with the board "has to be a factor" in Meredith's decision to keep his options open at this time. He didn't give names of regents that might be giving Meredith particular difficulty.

A similar assertion was made by Regent Bobby Bartley in a Courier-Journal article last week. Bartley said in that story that he thought Meredith was considering Central Florida because of "four or five regents who are a continual nuisance and want to run the university." Bartley later said he was misquoted.

Meredith and board Chairman Joe Iracane have both said allegations that the president and the board don't have a good relationship are untrue.

Two regents said the board and the president generally work well together.

"We in essence all support each other," Regent Monnie Hankins said. "The board is not partisan in what we do."

"If everybody agreed on everything, you probably would have a problem," Regent Danny Butler said. "I think diversity on the board is a good thing."

Meredith has stressed that he personally did not seek the Central Florida job. Someone recommended Meredith for the Central Florida position, and he chose to let the recommendation stand. Three other universities have contacted Meredith about presidential vacancies since he's been at Western, but he chose not to pursue those jobs.

Coalition strives for unity

BY DARLA CARTER

If the Coalition for Unity and Social Equality had a slogan, it might be "We've come a long way, but we've got a long way to go."

More than a week after the unity rally and march against the Ku Klux Klan, the student group, which met officially for the first time Sunday, is facing the challenge of maintaining the enthusiasm that surrounded the events.

"It was so exhilarating that when you come back into the real world, it's sort of a punch in the stomach," said Scottsville junior Gary Houchens, a coalition member. "It's very important for the group to maintain its commitment and not to become discouraged."

Though the march attracted 100 people, 12 people were present at the meeting, said Versailles freshman Carey Foreman, a coalition member.

FREEZE OUT: Hiring on hold because of budget cuts

BY J.L. JOHNSON

A university memo calling for hiring and purchasing freezes is the first sign that Western is expecting a chilly $2.4 million cut in state funding.

The memo, signed by President Thomas Meredith and dated Oct. 17, said "in anticipation of significant reduction" in state revenue, departments cannot interview replacements for university job vacancies or make purchases over $300.

Diddle Arena fire asbestos-related

BY KIM HADLEY

An electrical fire in Diddle Arena Friday night sent 17 people to the hospital and caused about $500 in smoke damage.

The students, firefighters and Public Safety officers were sent to The Medical Center at Bowling Green because the fire took place in an area where asbestos removal was being done. They were examined to see if there was any lung damage done due to exposure to the asbestos and smoke. They were all released after a few hours.

"Everybody was fine," Dr. Georgia Tye said. "They all got exposed to a little smoke, but no one had any lung discomfort, except for the first few minutes."

It was rather routine, Tye said.

The fire started at about 9:30 p.m. on the second floor of Diddle where asbestos removal has been going on since May. The exact cause of the electrical fire hasn't been determined, but a representative of the firm doing the asbestos removal said it was an equipment malfunction. It took a few minutes to put the fire out.

There was a negative air machine in the area that acted as a vacuum to contain asbestos particles. The fire started where electrical wires went through a plywood wall, built to separate the area from the rest of the building, to the air machine.

The Sear Corp. is doing the asbestos removal and said they lost $2,000 in supplies, representative Earl Allen said.

Physical Plant Director Kemble Johnson said he will meet with Allen today to discuss who will pay for the emergency room visits, overtime pay for university workers, smoke damage and air monitoring tests. Johnson estimated the costs at "a few thousand dollars."

There was a few square feet of smoke damage along the wall across from the concession stand on the second floor where the fire started, Johnson said.

Johnson said the potential for asbestos contamination was the biggest concern that night. "The fire part of it was very minor. It did get put out very quickly."

Brendan Bowen, the Physical Plant's environmental programs coordinator, arrived at Diddle about 10 p.m., Friday and left at noon Saturday.

Bowen said he ordered all locks on the doors changed Saturday to keep people from wandering through while air tests were being conducted.

Bowen said the tests revealed "no measurable contamination." Diddle reopened Sunday.

Asbestos removal also resumed, Johnson said. Asbestos removal is to be completed prior to the first basketball game in mid-November, he said.

KD Shenanigans Thursday

The Greeks are up to their old Shenanigans again. Kappa Delta sorority will be sponsoring its annual Shenanigans at 7 p.m. Thursday in Van Meter Auditorium. Shenanigans Co-Chairwoman Christina Burden, a junior from Old Hickory, Tenn., said this year's theme is "The Best of Broadway." Ten fraternities and five sororities will be performing songs and skits for the competition.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and Alpha Delta Pi sorority won the contest last year.

Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity will be performing its Step Show during intermission.

The $3 tickets will be on sale from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. today on the patio of Downing University Center. Tickets will not be sold at the door.

The proceeds from the show will go to KD's philanthropy, the Child Protection Agency of Bowling Green. Burden said they expect to raise about $2,500.

Fellowship worth up to $7,000

Seniors who plan on attending graduate or professional school are invited to apply for a fellowship worth up to $7,000 from the honor society Phi Kappa Phi.

Western will nominate one student to compete for 50 scholarships nationwide. Nominees must have a 3.8 grade-point average, high standardized test scores and participate in community and university activities.

Morrison and her roommate reported their purses stolen from their dorm room Thursday. Public Safety later charged Morrison with stealing her roommate's purse and its contents, valued at $123.

Morrison was charged with theft by unlawful taking of more than $100 and five charges of fraudulent use of a debit card. Morrison allegedly used her roommate's automatic teller machine card to steal $220.

Morrison was taken to Warren County Regional Jail and bond has not been set.

Hill loses power because BGMU cut line

BY STEPHANIE STIVERS

Part of Western's campus experienced partial power failure yesterday after Bowling Green Municipal Utilities accidentally cut a power line.

Most of the top of the Hill, including Cherry Hall, Garrett Center, Helm-Cravens Library, Thompson Complex and Gordon Wilson Hall, experienced a partial loss of electricity at about 5 p.m.

Bowling Green Police also reported traffic lights out on University Boulevard, Normal Drive and portions of 31-W Bypass.

Power was restored at about 5:15 p.m.

MEREDITH: He'll interview Friday

Florida's search and advisory committee, said his 38-member committee will conduct the 13 interviews tomorrow through Friday.

Videotapings of the interviews will be shown Oct. 31 at a joint meeting of the search committee and the state regent committee that approved the finalists for the position Thursday.

"We don't have a prescribed script," Whitehouse said about the interview process. "They've been asked to make an opening statement and to give a summary at the end not exceeding five minutes."

Meredith said yesterday he hasn't started to think about what he will say in his opening statement, but he has started going over some literature about Central Florida.

"I'm studying a ton of information about Central Florida right now," he said. "All kinds of things about the quality of the university and the quality of life in the area."

During the interviews, candidates will be asked about their philosophies on tenure, promotional activity and a university's community involvement, Whitehouse said.

Meredith's interview will be from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. Friday.

The field will be narrowed to about five candidates at the Oct. 31 meeting.

Those candidates will return to Orlando for two-day interviews the first week in November. Central Florida officials hope to have a president in place by the start of the spring semester.

Central Florida's last president resigned in June, following reports that he called escort services while out of town on university business.

"We will be looking at the positive aspects of the candidates" at the Oct. 31 meeting, Whitehouse said. He said the candidates with the longest lists of positives will be the ones to make the next cut.

This will be Meredith's first visit to the Orlando campus. Meredith said his wife, Susan, will accompany him on the trip.

The Merediths have two sons — Mark, 16, a high school junior and Matt, 13, an eighth grader. Meredith said moving his family with sons those ages would be "very much a concern" if he was offered the Central Florida job.

Meredith said another concern about possibly leaving is that Western has lacked stability in the president's office in recent years. If Meredith leaves, it would represent Western's third change of presidents since 1979.

Donald Zacharias served from 1979-85 before becoming president at Mississippi State. He was succeeded by Kern Alexander, who left in 1988 to become a distinguished professor at Virginia Tech.

"It bothers me deeply," Meredith said.

"We came with a commitment to stay because I knew what they had been through."

Executive Vice President Paul Cook said frequent changes in the president's office aren't good for a university because of the lack of continuity.

"The turnover rate has not been positive," he said. "I certainly do not think it would be positive for the university if he were to leave."

Cook also noted the General Assembly is preparing to meet in the spring, and that would be a difficult time for a transition to a new president.

"We're approaching a legislative session, and he is an outstanding spokesman for this university in Frankfort," Cook said.

Meredith said several people approached him during Homecoming weekend encouraging him to remain at Western.

"I expressed to all of them that we have no desire to leave," he said. "This option just came up and we felt we needed to look at it."

UNITY: Group's goal

But Houchens said he is hopeful that, given the new spirit of activism on campus, the group will have no problem attracting more members.

The coalition wants to promote unity and diversity and identify prejudice on an institutional and personal level.

Since those goals "transcend our organizational affiliations," the group plans to bring together as many campus and community organizations as possible, Houchens said.

The group already has the commitment of United Student Activists, said Houchens, who is president of that organization.

It also has tentative commitment from Black Student Alliance and the Bowling Green/Warren County NAACP.

It is important that the movement not lose momentum, BSA President Latinya Alexander said, because there is racism and an overall lack of unity on campus.

But when it comes to affecting social change, it's always left up to a "faithful few," said Phyllis Johnson, a Henderson graduate student.

Johnson said striving for equality and overcoming racism "should really be everybody's concern ... from the administration to the faculty to the staff."

President Thomas Meredith said the administration is "very much" committed to the cause, and that commitment will continue whether he stays at the university or leaves to take a position at the University of Central Florida.

"I don't think it has to do with any one person," Meredith said. "It's the commitment we're making as an institution."

Diddle update long overdue

◆ Our view/editorials

Friday night's fire at Diddle Arena should underscore a point: Diddle's fire code violations deserve immediate attention.

After an inspection in July 1988, state fire marshals said Diddle lacked adequate access to the emergency exits.

Fixing the problem would require adding aisles in the existing bleachers and constructing more emergency exits. Both would require major funding.

In a College Heights Herald article (Aug. 24, 1989), Physical Plant Director Kemble Johnson said bringing the arena up to code would cost $2.6 million. Added to an estimated $7.4 million for renovating the building, the $10 million needed for Diddle was never funded.

Friday's fire was small. However, it was complicated by the fact that it was located in an area where asbestos was being removed.

Although the arena was virtually empty at the time, the picture of thousands of basketball fans trying to get out of too few exits isn't something we want to consider.

Funding to update Diddle is still on the way — maybe.

Diddle's renovation, now estimated at $13 million, is No. 2 on Western's list of capital projects submitted to the Council on Higher Education earlier this month.

The funds for capital projects must be approved by the General Assembly; in the face of a $155 million budget shortfall predicted for 1991-92, that may not happen.

Diddle's renovation and the ultimate safety of those who use the building will depend largely on if and when the funding is approved.

We don't need another fire to prove that point.

◆ Your view/letters to the editor

Bring back the spirit

I would like to take this opportunity to thank Western's "social organizations" for an incredible turnout at Friday night's Big Red's Roar. The tremendous pain it must have taken to organize such fabulous tribes of red, white, purple, green, yellow, and blue (in three years, I never knew Western had such a rainbow of school colors!). It was unbelievable!

And then again on Saturday ... Not! It seems there's a new motto on campus, "If money doesn't talk, the organizations walk." (It turns out that there is a cash prize and a prestigious award at stake at the Big Red's Roar.)

Sure there were cheers on Saturday, but only at halftime when the queen candidates were announced (Hey people, the football team leaves the field at halftime!). How do you think the team felt as they ran back onto the field and the organizations were running for the door?

It is sad that we go to a university where there has to be a cash prize in order to get the organizations to participate. Where does your spirit go in the meantime? What happened to Western's real motto, "The Spirit Makes the Master?"

As fall sports go, there are two home football games, two home volleyball matches, and one home soccer match left on the schedules. There are also many other sporting events to attend during the winter and spring. I personally challenge the organizations of Western to bring the winning tradition back without charging the university for your services.

In the words of famous Kentuckian and coach Adolph Rupp, "A good crowd is worth 10 points to the home squad."

Ag department responds to critics

With regards to the "Photo was disgusting" letter to the editor in the Oct. 15 College Heights Herald, we have found Hopkins to be quite misinformed on the entire matter.

She referred to the process of fistulation as a cruel and heartless experiment. In actuality, fistulation of a ruminant animal is quite similar to people getting their ears pierced. The only difference is that the fistulation is performed in a sterile environment under local anesthetic by a licensed veterinarian. Tabitha has not been, nor will she ever be, in pain due to her fistula.

The information obtained from studying the digestibility of feedstuffs is very important in improving cattle nutrition. Is feeding animals correctly wrong?

Just for the record ... the department of agriculture at Western Kentucky University is very concerned with the welfare of its animals and sees to it that the livestock receives the best of care at all times.

During Hilltopper Science Days, Tabitha was at complete ease ... standing contently ... chewing her cud. There was constant professional supervision for those high school students who wished to advance their knowledge.

There are not any other experiments going on at the university dairy. When research trials are conducted, NONE are done to the detriment of any livestock. While not believing that any experiments should be conducted on any animals at all, Hopkins was unable to take a firm stand on the use of animals in AIDS research.

We would like to extend an open invitation to Hopkins, as well as anyone else, to visit Tabitha and all the other "contented" cows and calves at the WKU Dairy Barn at any time.

We would like to suggest that people take the time to look at our side before becoming so infuriated that outlandish and unwarranted claims are brought forth.

Professor wants to see bronze statue of Big Red

BY MEAGAN HOFF

A proposal to place a bronze statue of Big Red in the Preston Health and Activities Center is making its way through administrative channels.

Big Red

The proposal originated with Spirit Masters Adviser Carl Kell, who got the idea last year and talked it over with the 1990-1991 Spirit Masters.

Kell, a communications and broadcasting professor, drafted the proposal this year and sent it to the Residence Hall Association, administrators, Associated Student Government and other campus groups.

"My intention for the proposal is to find out student reaction to the idea," he said.

So far, reactions from students and administrators have been mixed.

John Seiber, ASG administrative vice president, said Big Red exemplifies the spirit of Western.

"Placing Big Red in the athletic complex will emphasize the fitness of the total body not just the mind," the senior from Hendersonville, Tenn., said.

His enthusiasm was shared by Teresa Poteet, a Grayson County senior.

"The statue sounds like a pretty good idea," Poteet said. "Big Red is our mascot and he shows Western's spirit."

John Payne, a senior from Arlington, Texas, said the statue is unnecessary.

"I'm not crazy about the idea," Payne said. "The athletic complex is a waste of money anyway without the statue."

Kell said there has been no formal discussion of cost for the Big Red statue, but is estimated at about $50,000.

He also doesn't know where the money would come from, but Seiber said it might come from private donations.

Kell said he would like the Big Red statue to be placed as far away from the Cherry statue as possible.

"Big Red stands for school spirit and enthusiasm," he said. "The Cherry statue is more dignified."

Kell said that if the idea for the statue progresses any further he would like to get input from a large group representing all student organizations.

FREEZE: Budget forces cuts

Parker said an empty slot for an assistant professor would go unfilled in his department because of the memo, but he didn't expect the department to suffer otherwise.

"We're a pretty low-budget department — most of our money is in salaries," Parker said. "It'd be like squeezing blood from a turnip to get anything else from us."

The memo follows Gov. Wallace Wilkinson's Oct. 15 announcement of a projected $155 million shortfall in state revenue and a resulting $31.6 million cut for higher education.

Wilkinson gave the state's Council on Higher Education the job of breaking down the cut for Kentucky's community college system and eight universities, including Western. The CHE plans to give its budget recommendations for the schools at its Nov. 4 meeting.

"We haven't decided exactly how to divide things," CHE spokesman Norm Snider said. "We can go with an across-the-board percentage, but we'll probably use the CHE formula."

The CHE formula is used to distribute state funds to the universities. In the face of a budget squeeze, the universities that received the biggest increases in state funding this year would bear the brunt of the cuts.

Snider said Western could lose as much as $2.4 million if CHE's funding formula is used to determine cuts.

When the state slashed 11.3 percent from higher education's budget in 1982, Executive Vice President Paul Cook said the university froze spending and hiring and "substantially reduced" maintenance on campus.

Physical Plant Director Kemble Johnson remembers taking lightbulbs out of "every two or four" sockets on campus to save energy costs during the crunch and said his department lost 40 jobs through the hiring freeze.

Though he doesn't expect this year to be as bad as 1982, Johnson isn't kidding himself.

"I know this will affect me a great deal because I have a good percentage of (Western's) total budget," Johnson said.

Public Safety Director Horace Johnson said earlier hiring freezes "made things pretty tough on us. It made burnout and stress easier to see in the officers working overtime."

"I'm taking a wait-and-see attitude. We'll just do the best with what we've got."

FIRE: Asbestos a concern

Johnson said no "drills" have been established if a fire should occur during a ball game, but he added that the fire this weekend was "unrelated to the fire code problem."

Opened in 1963, Diddle was denied a request for additional bleachers in July 1988 when the state fire marshal said Western didn't meet state fire codes.

An estimated $2.9 million is needed to bring the building up to code, with that cost increasing about 10 percent each year, Johnson said.

Total renovation of Diddle is estimated at $13 million. But due to state cutbacks, requests for funding has been denied. It is No. 2 on Western's capital projects request list this year.

As one of the provisions to meet the code, Diddle removed four rollout bleachers, the equivalent of about 800 seats, about two years ago. This left capacity at about 12,000 in the arena. But there still is a lack of access to exits in case of an emergency.

GEO FEST: Brings students, faculty, alumni together

BY PHIL A. D'ANIELLO

The room smelled like fresh barbecue mixed with sweet country air coming through the ever-opening glass doors.

That smell alone was enough to pleasantly overload the senses Saturday as students, faculty and alumni talked, drank, ate and laughed together while Oklahoma and Colorado battled it out on television.

The scene was reminiscent of a big family reunion, and in a way it was one.

The event

was Geo Fest, a huge picnic held twice a year for the geology and geography department at

Professor Nick Crawford's home.

The students, faculty, and alumni came together to get to know one another or renew old friendships.

Glen Conner, a meteorology

professor, said he has missed only two of the picnics since coming to Western in 1976. The Geo Fest is a tradition dating back to 1972.

Conner said the department has as good a relationship with students and faculty as any other at the better.

"The Geo Fest is not a cause of the relationship but a result of the relationship," he said.

Mike L'heureux, who earned his master's degree from Western, drove more than 20 hours from Chicopee, Mass., to attend the party.

"Western was a special place for me, and I see a lot of old friends," he said. "That's why I've been back 10 times."

Department Head Wayne Hoffman said he was at the first Geo Fest. "It's simply a great time."

Bowling Green senior Deena

Kinser said

she comes back every year because she loves it.

"This

department is more like family. It's like going home.

It's so comfortable."

Some guests

did concede

that there are other advantages to coming to a party where so many past

graduates are present.

Owensboro junior James

Damron said "we meet a lot of different people and (get to) know the job market."

Crawford and his wife, Whit, have been holding the hog roasting Geo Fest each semester since 1977.

"This is great," Whit said.

"There must be 70 to 80 people here ... The food seems to be what gets a lot of the people there."

Tony Able, a 1986 graduate who is from Decatur, Ga., agreed when he said, "We can figure out how to save the world — after we eat."

As the afternoon was coming to an end and the food trays were dwindling down, most went outside to play volleyball or sat

by a campfire to enjoy the day with friends.

"We can figure out how to save the world — after we eat."

— Tony Able 1986 graduate

Joanne's idea of fast food is eating 3 double cheeseburgers, 2 large fries, and 2 chocolate shakes in 13 minutes.

Maybe you're not like Joanne. Maybe for you it's only two cheeseburgers and two shakes. It could be as many as five stops at five different fast-food places. But if you're obsessed with food and your weight, you may be one of the over five million Americans with an eating disorder.

Do you look forward to the times you can eat alone? Do you plan your entire day around the times you'll be able to eat?

Do you feel guilty about your preoccupation with food?

Do you hide your eating habits from other people?

Do you constantly diet or think about dieting?

Do you purge by vomiting, with laxatives or exercise after binges to keep your weight down?

If you answered yes to one or more of the above questions, you may have an eating disorder. It's not a question of will power. It's a disease.

Call one of our counselors today for information and a free assessment. They'll be happy to talk to you. They know what you're going through. Some of them have been there themselves. Call collect or direct, Eating Disorder Services, at (615) 865-2727

Forward breaks school record as Tops win 2-1

◆ The soccer team beat Wright State 2-1 Friday. They go to Cincinnati tomorrow to play the Bearcats.

BY BRIAN DAUGHERTY

Chris Hutchinson became Western's career scoring leader in soccer Friday, and now he's added something else to shoot for.

"I want to break 50 goals," said Hutchinson, who scored both Topper goals as Western (8-5) beat Wright State 2-1 in Dayton, Ohio. He now has 41 career goals.

Hutchinson tied the record 6:20 into the game on an assist from Brian

Chris Hutchinson

Hall. "I tried to fake the goalie out, and I shot it in," Hutchinson said.

He broke the record with 6:30 left in the first half. Andy Deimling's shot went off the crossbar, and came out to Hutchinson, who was 12 feet from the goal. "I just nailed it in."

Coach David Holmes said Hutchinson, a senior forward from Nashville, is playing his best soccer.

"In addition to scoring goals, he's fighting for loose balls and scrapping for balls in the air,"

Holmes said. "He's doing everything he can to help us win games here at Western."

Holmes was pleased with Western's defense Friday against Wright State's three-forward attack, complementing the play of Mike Dickenson, Paul Hillman, Kevin Hall and Rory Lithgow for shutting down the Raider forwards.

"They threw so much into the attack, and that left them open in the back," Holmes said. When forwards Hutchinson or Chad Boda got the ball, Wright State didn't have any backup defenders nearby.

Holmes said when one of the forwards got the ball, they had only one defender, and that created a scoring opportunity for Western. "Every time we got the ball past their midfielders, we caused problems for them," he said.

The Toppers play the Cincinnati Bearcats at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow in Cincinnati.

◆ Cross country

Western wins meet at Vandy

BY DANNY ENGLISH

Western's men's cross country team proved that it was a team to be reckoned with as it raced to victory on Saturday without top runners Sean Dollman and Steve Gibbons.

Western's Eddie O'Carroll won the Vanderbilt Open with a time of 20:20. Western placed four runners in the top 10. Jeremiah Twomey placed second with a time of 20:25, James Scott finished seventh in 20:37 and Howard Shoaf finished 10th in 20:51.

Western won the race with 93 points.

"I was pleased because I have had a lot of injury problems," O'Carroll said. "We got a new training program to suit my back problem. We were very successful and everything seemed to come together."

Coach Curtiss Long stressed the importance of the running of Shoaf, Twomey and Scott to raise the team's points.

"We really pull for each other and get the pack closer to Sean," Scott said. "We are like a pack moving through the race."

The Lady Toppers finished ninth with a score of 252. Ohio State won the open with 43 points.

Mary Dwyer was the top runner for Western placing 23rd overall with a time of 18:43.

Dollman, Breeda Dennehy and Michelle Murphy competed yesterday at the Arizona Invitational in Tucson.

Dollman and Dennehy won the invitational. Murphy placed 39th.

Rick Loomis/Herald

Troy State's David McCombs celebrates after scoring in the last three minutes of Saturday's game. The Trojans won 39-23.

Trojans spoil Homecoming

BY CARA ANNA

For a few minutes, it looked like the Middle Tennessee game of two weeks before — Western scored late in the fourth quarter to take the lead, but the opposition came back for a field goal on the next drive.

Saturday, however, was not a repeat of that last-second, 23-21 loss to the Blue Raiders. This week there was enough time left for the Toppers to try again. And again. And again.

Each time, visiting Troy State stopped the attempt with an interception. When the horn sounded, the Trojans had spoiled Homecoming with a 39-23 victory in front of the remaining chilly spectators.

"The only difference was that there was time left to shoot ourselves in the foot," Coach Jack Harbaugh said.

A crowd of 10,980 attended the game Saturday night as Western lost its second straight Homecoming and fell to 2-4 this season.

"Things just are not going right for us," junior flanker Matt MacIntyre said. "We thought, 'OK, it's our turn to come back and win.' It seems like that's what everybody does to us."

Western quickly fell behind 3-0 in the game, and trailed the Trojans 16-3 at the half. Western's first lead of the game came when Roscoe Echols dove in from the one-yard line with six minutes left. Echols led all rushers with 127 yards on 30 carries.

Obsession defeats ADPi's to earn second straight title

BY KENNETH SCHOTT

Seven was a lucky number for Obsession Thursday night.

The women's flag football intramural team beat Alpha Delta Pi sorority, 48-13, behind the strength of seven interceptions.

"I tried to get between her (the quarterback) and the receiver," said Obsession's Rhonda Ellis, who had two interceptions.

"Basically, we just didn't go to the ball," ADPi quarterback Stacie Abshier said. "They're a good team."

In winning the game, Obsession earned the right for the second consecutive year to play in the national flag football tournament in New Orleans over Christmas break Dec. 28-31.

"It's about the best feeling in the world," said Obsession quarterback Shelly Duncan. "Last year, we went down there and got our butts kicked. We hope to do better this year."

Obsession dominated the game offensively and defensively.

Obsession amassed 257 yards of offense, as quarterback Duncan completed 18 of 25 passes for 178 yards and rushed for 41 more.

ADPi played well in the first half. In fact, they scored first in the game, when Jennifer Lunn caught a pass for a touchdown from 12 yards. After missing the extra point, it was 6-0.

Obsession struck back. Duncan threw a seven-yard scoring strike to Ellis, and it was 7-6 after the conversion.

Then Jaycee Warren caught a 25-yard touchdown pass from Duncan to make it 14-6.

ADPi cut the lead to one as Abshier hit Shawn South on a 27-yard pass. After the conversion, it was 14-13.

It was the closest ADPi would ever come. Obsession dominated the game in the second half, and the defense forced Abshier to throw four consecutive interceptions. After each interception, Obsession capitalized with a score.

ADPi was only able to gain 25 yards in the second half. They had 190 total yards for the game.

Football: Turnovers stop Toppers

Less than three minutes later Troy State's Matt Stone kicked a 45-yard field goal as the Trojans took a 25-23 lead.

Each of Western's three tries in the remaining time, including one that put the ball at the Troy State 31, was stopped with an interception of senior quarterback Brian Browning. Two resulted in Trojan touchdowns, with one on an 81-yard runback by Steve Leach.

"Things just fell apart. I'm pretty down on myself," said Browning, minutes after the game.

"Senior-wise, it is terrible. You're thinking this is the last one (Homecoming), and you want to make it one you'll always remember. I'm at a loss of words to describe it."

Browning completed 15 of 33 passes for 191 yards in the game with two touchdowns. Starting quarterback Eddie Thompson was pulled early in the game after being closed down by the Trojan defense. He lost more yards than he gained rushing.

"We know they controlled us. It's not a good feeling," Harbaugh said.

Harbaugh felt that, despite the late turnovers, Browning had a "fantastic" game.

MacIntyre and Milton Biggins caught Browning's touchdown passes as Western began to catch up late in the game.

Biggins, a senior, led the receivers with three catches for 64 yards, despite a back injury. Another senior, Joe Lee Johnson, played with an ankle injury on defense and had five tackles.

"The wide receivers played excellent," Browning said. "I threw some that were hard to catch."

Forgive MacIntyre if he smiles a little when he remembers the game. He scored his first collegiate touchdown in the third quarter when he caught a six-yard pass from Browning and somersaulted into the end zone. He was swarmed by his teammates after the play.

It was a fitting early present. Today is his 22nd birthday.

"It's exciting," MacIntyre said. "Brian threw right where I had to be."

"I just wish we could have won," he said. "It kind of makes you forget all else."

"We were wanting the victory bad. It was the last one (Homecoming) for us," said Browning, one of 25 seniors on the team. "We wanted to show the alumni what Western football is all about."

Tops win sixth straight in blowout

BY JEFF NATIONS

Western's volleyball team just keeps on winning. Thursday, the Toppers defeated Southeast Missouri in three sets, 15-0, 15-5, 15-0, to extend its winning streak to six games.

Janet Ryan led the Toppers with 12 kills, while Cindy Bradley added five aces.

Western's record stands at 15-10.

The next opponent for the Hilltoppers is Division II Southern Indiana. Game time is set for 8 tonight at Diddle Arena.
